

FX With Terry Indicators

Here is a breakdown of the indicators and alerts I use.

1. Move stop to break even EA: Get it free here.

If using this with US30 you'll need to set points and not pips; for example 2000 points is 20 pips however as you know, US30 is a unique instrument and you'll need to set the move stop to break even at your risk level.

2. RSI Alert: Get it free here.

I use this at a setting of 4 for the RSI, this gives the alerts a more aggressive and visual notification; I use the settings of 90 overbought at the upper limits and 10 oversold at the lower limits and I often set a level of 50 in the middle for visual appeal.

3. Moving Average CrossOver Alert: Get it here free.

I use this as an additional indication to let me know when a powerful trend is beginning or ending.

4. Trend Bar: Get it here free.

This allows you to see the trend of all time frames at once to determine overall market direction (power to the upside long, or to the down side short).

5. Candle Timer: Get it free here.

This is not required however I like to see how long a candle has before close, since I typically enter based on the movement/visual of the last candle, in confirmation with other market indications.
